A synergistically composed nutritional supplement that increases resistance to stress and reduces the harmful effects of stress on the body.

Description

A prolonged strain of body and mind results in several adverse effects, such as an imbalance in the nutrient status because of an increased consumption of nutrients, an acceleration of the aging process and weakening of the immune system.

A key component in Stress Complex is magnesium, a mineral which is scientifically proven to contribute to the normal functioning of our nerve cells and, consequently, our psyche.

Similarly, vitamins B1, B2, B3, B6 and B8 also contribute to the normal functioning of our nervous system and our psyche.

Range of indications

- For the normal functioning of our nerve cells
- for a normal psyche

INSTRUCTIONS
